

Low Power FM radio is important to communities as large as Philadelphia perhaps just as much as small ones to ensure freedom of speech and independent reporting and thought.